April 2014

April is National Minority Health Month

April is recognized as National Minority Health Month. Let's raise awareness about the health disparities that continue to affect racial and ethnic minorities, and the health care law's groundbreaking policies to reduce these disparities and achieve health equity.

This year's theme, Prevention is Power: Taking Action for Health Equity, emphasizes the critical role of prevention in reducing health disparities. It is a call to action, a charge for all of us to unite towards a common goal of improving the health of our communities.

Everyone in America should have the chance to live a healthy life, regardless of who they are and where they live.

Join the Office of Minority Health as they strive to combat health disparities, build healthier communities and create a stronger nation. Prevention is Power. Together, let's take action for health equity!
